U.F.A. Want Hall Insurance Increased
The members of the Gleichen Local No. 96 of the United Farmers of Alberta held a short meeting Saturday afternoon, the most important business transacted being the passing of the resolution appearing below. The secretary in asking the Call to bring the resolution for the benefit of the members and farmers generally, said that it was the desire in this resolution to avoid taxing the ranchers on leased grazing lands, but it was the opinion that the ranchers should pay a hall insurance tax on all land owned by them. He pointed out that a good part of the lands owned by the ranchers were used for growing crops for their horses and cattle, and were usually assigned by farmers, whose work increased the value of the ranch land. The resolution, however, should speak for itself.

The importance of hall insurance is one that is recognized by all, and while some have never suffered from it, like fire it is impossible to tell when it may be required. The past season we have been told by old-timers, that hall struck localities where they have never known it to strike before, although for twenty to thirty years they have been observing the courses hall storms take.

The union's resolution follows:
Whereas, droughts, excessive moisture, stock diseases and the like may be counteracted by irrigation, drainage and science, whilst hall storms are totally beyond all human control, and
Whereas, farmers who grow grain, are the men who assume the risk of putting Alberta into cultivation, diversified farming based upon all crops, etc., being impossible before the raising of grain has put the soil into proper shape for mixed farming, and
Whereas, it has been fully demonstrated that sufficient funds can not be raised to cover the losses by farmers only who may make application for insurance on the present basis of risk, and
Whereas, it has been fully proven to the farmers of the Gleichen district that no part of Alberta can be considered free from danger of hall storms, and that it is absolutely impossible for the average farmer to continue farming in Alberta without some kind of hall insurance, and
Whereas, it is perfectly unjust that speculative, who are making the money in the rise in values of lands due to work done by grain growers, should not participate in the risks of hall storms, and
Whereas, parties who cannot pay a tax of from $2.00 to $5.00 per quarter section to provide against losses owing to hall storms, are not qualified to own land in Alberta.

Therefore be it resolved:
That this Farmers Union, No. 96, U.F.A., respectfully call upon the Government of Alberta, to introduce an Act at the next session providing for a tax on all taxable lands in Alberta, to cover damage to crops by hall, to the extent of $5.00 per acre for total loss, the amount of such taxation to be determined yearly by the annual losses of the previous year, so as to cover any deficit that may have occurred the previous year, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Government of Alberta, and that a second copy be mailed to the secretary of the United Farmers of Alberta, at Calgary, with the request that forward copies to the secretaries of all local unions of the United Farmers of Alberta, requesting all unions to support this resolution and to notify the Government and the secretary of the central union of the United Farmers of Alberta.

Moved by J. C. Buckley, seconded by L. A. Moore, Gleichen, Al., November 6th, 1911.

Farming is Greatest of All Callings
Farming is the most important calling, since it is the basis one, and that upon which the entire superstructure of society and government is built. It is becoming, and is destined to be the greatest of all sciences, and the ideal farmer the greatest of scientists. As farming is the chief source of supply of the waste of man, the great need is that the farmer raise to dignity of his vocation.

Wherever heedful civilization or science without the cultivation of the soil? Agriculture is a great primal art as ultimately it will become the paramount sciences. From the earliest stirring of the virgin soil from which the primal forest had been cleared, towards the highest point of cultivation and crop-rotation, agriculture and agriculturists have moved by slow but sure advances from the crooked mounds to the up-to-date plow; from the V-shaped dig to the most efficient harrow from the sickle and grain cradle to the self binder; from the "Ball" to the steam threshing outfit of to-day. Agriculture in its relation to other sciences is that of a great central science to which others are subsidiary and about which they revolve. More than this, it gives birth to other sciences and pursuits of man, or makes their existence possible, as the sun in the heavens sustains and vivifies its attendant worlds by its benign and fostering power.

In the latest significance of terms farming means more than agriculture; agriculture (Latin ager, a field, and cultura, cultivation), literally signifies simply the cultivation of the soil, while farming includes many allied branches of art and science, as stockraising, orcharding, etc., each branch requiring expert capability and skill for its successful prosecution. So that farming is not a single science, but an assemblage of sciences. Not only should the farmer understand the physical condition and something of the chemical constituents of soils, the characteristics, varieties and growth of plants and methods of cultivation, but he should also possess a knowledge of animals—their anatomy, physiology, methods of feeding and care, diseases and treatment. There he must be a mechanic—must understand the construction and operation of machinery used on the farm. It is necessary that the farmer have some acquaintance with commercial law and with business methods. To the subjects named should be added a knowledge of the structure and laws of the earth—its anatomy and physiology, by which, with attention to moral and mental sciences. He should also conversant with current events and affairs of government, that he may set his part in public as well as in private life.

A LITTLE STORY OF IRRIGATION

There were two men who had two adjoining quarter sections in the Canadian Pacific Railroad's Irrigation Block in Southern Alberta; one was a farmer, the other thought he was. They both got up early in the morning, cultivated their ground and planted their crops. The farmer employed irrigation intelligently; the other man trusted to the Lord to send the water along at the right time.

When the harvest came, the farmer took off 40 1-2 bushels of winter wheat to the acre, the other man took his note to the bank to have it renewed. The farmer made enough off his crop to:

1. Pay for the land at $26 an acre
2. Reimburse himself for the expenditure in connection with cultivation of his land.
3. And to pay for the fences and other improvements on the land.

Irrigation farming is successful farming because it is business farming. You don't have to worry about weather conditions. Your crop is INSURED and your future and independence ASSURED.

Farming is Greatest of All Callings

The routine and rule-of-thumb methods of many other callings will not do for the farmer; he must be a man of versatility, resourcefulness, and ability, unhampered by unvarying rules. The successful farmer must possess breadth and strength as well as versatility of mind. The fields of nature and those of science lie before him, and about him. It may be well questioned whether any other sphere in life offers so large a scope for practical enquiry, progress and scientific research as does farming. The most exact of the farmer's knowledge of the nature and resources of the soil and of plant and animal life is the more complete should be the measure of his success. He may be self-educated by careful experimentation. He may—and the more progressive farmer does—conduct experiments with the different kinds and varieties of crops, under the direction of agricultural colleges. He should also study the valuable literature sent out by these colleges and by the government. The leading agricultural journals, however, leave the farmer no excuse for ignorance in matters pertaining to his occupation. If he desires broader culture, books on any subject he may choose are easily within his reach.

Thomas Carlyle has said, "The true university of these days is: collection of books." So every man may have a university in his home. And no man has a better right to culture and intelligence than the farmer. In nature's laboratory how can one be other than a student? And what is science but a reading of nature's messages, a study of nature's forms and plans. What literature but an expression of our thoughts of things? Who has the better outlook or better opportunity than the farmer.—W. J. Way, Morlin, Ont.

TOWN AND DISTRICT

Joe Clark left Monday morning for Calgary to take a position with first in that city. "Jimulus" has been in Gleichen for about five years and as clerk in J. A. E. Bousper's store he has made many friends who wish him all things good.

If Harold Riley goes as hard after the location of the Agricultural college at Gleichen as did his brother, E. H., the prospects are still excellent. Never say "quit".

A small boy or any other name would be sure to find out.

When the blind lead the blind they never stay in an occultical position.

Even the most optimistic Gleichenites were rather surprised to learn that Gleichen town polled more votes in the election last week than any other polling division save one in the constituency. Gleichen people were aware that one of the most successful of the candidates was the greatest west of Calgary, not more expected we continued the voters claimed for Hillhurst, Stony Hill, Mount Pleasant, Crescent Heights and Riverside. Keep your lamps on Gleichen.

It's easier to talk woman out of 50 cents than it is to fight men out of a dollar.

Lots of men are willing to tell us just what to do, but they never have time to show.

Who were the five lunamen who on Thanksgiving Day, empty their stockings at every gutter in range and then raise them? Better luck next time sports.

Stealing has been in full swing on Chris. Bartlett's stage since Saturday evening. A large number were down last night and a big crowd are going tonight—Thursday.

All Gleichenites should take a pride in seeing Miss McMillan head the Alberta contest, and indignantly enjoy a trip to California.

The Blackflet are evidently fast learning the ways of the wilderness. If you go into the postoffice at Gleichen any evening you will see large numbers at work industriously whittling the one while their square sits down in a corner and look on patiently waiting for them to finish.

Anyway, a book book is full of good ideas.

It's easy to convince a sceptic that it is unwise to marry young.

What some men lack in backbone they make up in cheek.

The under dog generally gets more sympathy than his deerer.

The fellow who doesn't amount to much loses no time in letting us know it.

Self-possession is nine points of the lawyer.

Friendship and dattery are more alliterative than allied.

Many a fellow is afraid to propose to a girl for fear she might say yes.

When you can see through a man it doesn't necessarily mean that he has a clear conscience.

There is no satisfaction in knowing that in the by-election it was perfectly clean so far as the personalities of the two candidates were concerned. There was no washing by either.

Keep your lamps on Gleichen or watch her grow.

While Gleichen politicians claim there was a very small vote record at a week ago, it is gratifying to know Gleichen polled more votes than any other polling division in the constituency, but one.

Bishop Frederic Burgess tells an amusing story of a little chap from the city who, though longing for the experience, actually refused to be a "country wacker." No, in fact, no country for him. "But why, dear?" they questioned, long to remove his little little person at least temporarily from the "country." "Because," the child, explained after much coaxing, "they have thrashing machines here, and as it's bad enough here, where do I see year by year?"

While the best of friendly feelings existed between the two candidates in the Gleichen by-election, it was not admitted that there was much love lost between the two part leaders.

The number who continue to give the days go by.
